

THE POTTER COMMITTEE.

The Two Indian Appointment Telegrams Explained.

Testimony of General Brady and Judge Tynner—The Florida Telegrams Between the Two—Zach Chandler's Two Indian Appointments—Cam-paign in Indiana—Mr. Foster's Connection.

The Testimony Yesterday.

Mr. W. T. McCallan, assistant chief of the Warrent Division of the Treasury Department, was the first witness before the Potter Committee yesterday. He stated that in consequence of a letter from Mr. Secretary Sherman he attended in the Morton committee room for the purpose of examining the Oregon cipher dispatches. He was there two days and succeeded in deciphering them by the "dictionary key," which he had been provided. He recognized Nos. 10, 12, and 14, on page 37, of Trilene pamphlet, and No. 15, on page 38, as part of those dispatches. The committee were not in session at the time he made the examination, but other experts were at work on the dispatches. He recalled the contents of the Florida dispatches; he only saw a few, and was unable to decipher them, because the key had not then been discovered.

The committee then, at twelve o'clock, took a recess.

The committee reassembled at half-past one. Assistant Postmaster-General Brady recalled, announced his desire to present the telegrams referred to in his examination of yesterday, whereupon he gave them to Chairman Potter in the original envelopes. The telegrams translated read as follows:

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 1.

Florida will go for Hayes.

WASHINGTON.

General Brady, Tallahassee:

Florida in trouble. I speak advisedly. Have no other fears.

WASHINGTON.

General Brady, Tallahassee:

Reliable information here says Democrats claim two of Florida returning ballot. Do you believe it?

WASHINGTON.

John Wing, Washington:

We have no intimation of treachery except on the part of our own army. If we come to grief it is through our own army. I have advised him to be careful of our interest. He has many and mysterious interviews and conversations.

BRADY.

By the Chairman—Who was meant by the New Yorker?—A General Barlow, of New York city. Several other telegrams were read, but contained no significance, the last one relating the coming of the telegraph to the State and gone for Hayes, &c.

It transpired under cross-examination by Messrs. Potter, Hunter, and Blackburn, that "John Wing" was a fellow passenger with Tynner, and that he was arranged previous to Tynner's departure that telegrams should be so addressed. The cipher used was also arranged before General Brady left Washington. His cipher, he said, had been destroyed, and he presumed Mr. Tynner had destroyed his copy.

General Brady was examined at length as to whether there were any other telegrams sent or received by him bearing on the election; he replied there were none.

First Assistant Postmaster-General Tynner was then sworn. He had recently been informed by General Brady that the committee were about to examine the telegrams, and he feared, as they or a portion of them had been once in his possession, that it would lead to misconstruction and probably mix him (Brady) up in the affair.

Mr. Tynner then desired to say a word regarding the testimony of the Western Union officials, Messrs. Green, Carey, and Grant.

The testimony of Mr. Green to the effect that the telegrams were between General Brady and John W. Foster concerning the sale of certain orders and between himself and Z. Chandler regarding the appointment of Indian agents, had no warrant whatever in the contents of the telegrams sent to the committee. The idea of Mr. Carey that the telegrams in question related to a dirty piece of political engineering was entirely erroneous. He would verify this statement by producing all of the telegrams sent to the committee, and the subject under investigation, and he procured these telegrams after an accidental conversation with President Orton, that gentleman having mentioned, during the course of conversation, one evening at William's Hotel, that by disclosing the telegraphic correspondence required by the committee many persons might be somewhat embarrassed, adding that if he refused to furnish the telegrams, he would later the telegrams would be destroyed, it being customary to destroy them every six months. Mr. Tynner at this interview mentioned having certain telegrams, and he inquired if he could properly withdraw them, as they might be misconstrued and act injuriously to all parties concerned.

Mr. Orton informed Mr. Tynner that if he would furnish a memorandum of his telegrams they would be sent him. This was done and he subsequently received the telegrams, and was now ready to produce them in entirety.

The witness then produced the telegrams, and where they were in cipher gave an explanation of the cipher and an interpretation of the message. The first of the Foster-Tynner dispatches was from Indianapolis, September 29, and read as follows:

To James N. Tynner. (Personal.)

Smith case and arrangements are satisfactory. Certain will be written and the cipher to be used. Sometime during the campaign, he said, probably as early as July or August, he had a conversation with Mr. Zach Chandler, the chairman of the Republican National Convention, with reference to Indiana, the central committee of which State had written to him asking the assistance of the National Committee. Gentlemen in New York and elsewhere, he was informed, had expressed their readiness to assist Indiana if Mr. Foster, who was formerly chairman of the committee in Indiana, were their chairman or connected with the committee, as they would have a great deal of confidence in his management. Witness suggested that Mr. Foster, who was on a tour from Mexico at the time, might be asked to go to Indiana to assist the local committee with his advice and presence. Subsequently Mr. Foster was asked and consented to do this, and a letter, dated Birmingham, N. Y., was received by witness from Chandler, to that effect. Of that telegram witness has no copy. Upon the information contained in that telegram witness met him at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, in September.

Mr. Foster said he had been in Indiana they would need $7,000 to be used in meeting the expenses of speakers, printing bills, &c., and it was proposed to make an effort to secure the services of some active member of the Greenback organization there to induce voters to go back on their old love and vote the Republican ticket. Another proposition was for the purchase of the Indianapolis Sentinel, a Democratic newspaper in the city of Indianapolis, which was said to be in financial distress and might be purchased cheaply. We went into General McCormack's room, and that gentleman promptly stated that within a short time the committee would be able to furnish the Indiana Republicans with $10,000 toward their campaign expenses. The proposition about purchasing the PARIS, Jan. 29.—Everything indicates that President MacMahon will resign. It may be considered that he has already morally done so. The probable course of events is as follows: To-morrow the government will formally announce the situation to the Chambers and report the President's refusal to sign the decrees respecting the great military commands. The Senate and Chamber of Deputies will pass votes of confidence in the Ministry, who will thus be obliged to press the demands on MacMahon for changes in the staff of generals.

MACMAHON'S FIRM.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Times special dispatch from Paris, dated Wednesday evening, says: "M. de Marcere, Minister of the Interior, waited on President MacMahon this evening. The President did not indicate in any way what his final decision with regard to resignation would be. He confined himself to declaring that he would reside at the cabinet council on Thursday. All accounts agree that his refusal to sign the decrees relative to the military commanders was couched in vehement terms. He has not even signed the decrees relative to changes in his magistracy."
